RUGBY SQUADS GETTING INTO PLAYING FORM

McGill vs. Ottawa On Monday Afternoon.

LINE A LITTLE SLOW.

Rooters Club May Be a Means Of Victory For McGill.

Nothing of importance took place at yesterday's rugby workout. "Shag" put the first squad through pretty much the same drill as usual while the second and third teams worked under Forbes and Flanagan in also much the same way.

The Seniors practiced kicking for goal from different angles, passing the ball while running, tackling and signal work. On the last two they spent the most time and deservedly so, for the team is still weak in this part of the game. In tackling practice,the dummy was used in the first part of the afternoon, and later a new tactic was adopted as follows; the scrimmage lined up as in a game, the ball was passed out, and kicked down the field being followed by two men from the line who tackled the catcher at the other end of the field. Thus practice in tackling was afforded all the men, while others kicked, caught, and tried to get away with the ball. The second and third squads meanwhile with Forbes, as coach, practiced signals and passing.

In the latter part of the afternoon, the second squad was pitted against the Seniors. This game was of no special interest, the older men had things pretty much their own way, more so than usually. Altogether the teams seem to be in fairly good shape for the coming game. The Juniors under Mathewson, play their first game to-day against Loyola seniors. The teams ought to be fairly matched as far as weight is concerned, and the game, should be an interesting one. The Seniors' game on Monday should be a fair test of their ability. Ottawa defeated M.A.A.A. not long ago, the play at the recent exhibition game between McGill and the latter club, was

ROOTERS' CLUB TO BE AT RUGBY GAME

G. W. V. A. Band Will Be Present At Monday's Contest.

A great many students were out to rooting practice at the hall, last night, but many more who could have come did not. The "red line of heroes" in the field is working hard under "Shag" to beat Ottawa on Monday. The least that those who are not helping in the line can do is to turn out and encourage the team, and what better means have they than to join the Rooters' Club and to do it now.

Though it may be true enough that the chairs in the hall were full yesterday, yet there is no reason whatever why the turnout at the game should not be twice as large, and at least four times as "lond".

W. Nicholson urged each rooter to bring a chum along to cheer McGill's fourteen, who at that time were making their line impregnable for Ottawa's warriors.

The rooters' at Strathcona Hall yesterday rehearsed college songs and yells, in a very snappy manner, under leaders of Archie Jenks and Keith Hutchison, both of whom, showed marked skill in leading the crowd. With Paul Scott at the piano the students sang the following songs: "Hail Alma Mater" "Tammany", "I'll Say She Does", "Come Fill Your Glasses Up", "Put On Your Red and White Sweater", "Ja Da", "Tramp Tramp" and "Mary" and repeated a few of these to the apparent satisfaction of the leaders.

There has been a special call for musical instruments, wind and reed as well as for the kazoo, penny whistle, tin horn, megaphone, etc.

"H" section at the Stadium is reserved for the Rooters.

The Club will meet on Monday af-

TO ORGANIZE GOLF GAMES AT McGILL

Formerly Games Held On Morning Of Sports Day.

STAFF vs. STUDENTS.

Originally Organized By Dr. Wm. Peterson and Dr. Ruttan.

One of the most interesting revivals in the field of competitive sports, is that which was announced to the "Daily" by Dr. Ruttan yesterday. This project is aimed at the revival of Golf between members of the staff and the students.

It was the custom, before the war for this contest to be staged on the morning of Sports Day. The contending teams left in the morning for the Dixie links, where the games were played. About noon the students were entertained at luncheon by the members of the staff, and all left Dixie in time to be present at the sports in the afternoon.

Sir William Peterson, the former Principal of McGill, and Dr. Ruttan were the principal organizers of this interesting custom, and were always very enthusiastic about making it a success. Dr. Evel who has recently returned from overseas as the Director of the Phetca department, was also an ardent supporter of the practice. Sir William was the host at the luncheon which followed, and which was an admirable way of bringing student and professor together.

Games were played for six years, in four of which the members of the staff proved superior. The students won the honors one year, while once both sides broke even.

This year it is the aim of those who are planning the affair to have fifteen or twenty men to represent each side. The party will leave for Dixie at nine o'clock on the morning of Friday the 17th. After the luncheon the party will leave for Montreal at 1.56 reaching the city at 2.00 p.m.

Members of the staff who wish to play are requested to communicate with Dr. Scane the registrar of the Medical Faculty. The following students have signified their intention to play and will receive names of other men who would like to take part: L. K. Greene, Sci. '20, R. McCall, Arts '21, Yates, Sci. and Johnson.

CERCLE FRANCAIS EXECUTIVE MEETS

The executive of the Cercle Francais of McGill University held their first business meeting at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Among those present were the Honorary President, Dr. Vilard, Professor Du Roure, and the President, Secretary and Treasurer. After the minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted, a varied discussion on the question of admission of new members, and the activities for the session took place. A more detailed account of the meeting it is intended to hold, etc., will be given in next Tuesday's issue of the "Daily."

ECONOMISTS RE-ORGANIZE THEIR CLUB

Membership Is Extended To All University Men.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Members Are Required To Attend All the Meetings.

Yesterday a very important meeting of students interested in Economics took place in the Arts Building.

It was unanimously decided to reorganize the Political Economy Club, which has been defunct for the past three years. Dr. Leacock acted as Chairman of the meeting, and outlined the objects of the club giving some valuable advice to the embryo economists and offering many suggestions as to the way in which he thought the club ought to proceed this year. He then called upon Mr. L. W. Kern to take the chair until the officers should be elected.

The first question to come before the meeting was that of membership. This proved a very controversial subject and, after many orators had been heard, it was decided not to limit the membership of the club, but to allow all students of the University, who are interested in the subject of Economics, to join. Prospective members are subject to one condition only, namely, that they attend all the meetings of the club throughout the year. Attendance at two or three of the meetings only would result in no good to the individual member or to the club as a whole.

The next question was that of the election of officers. In past years when the club was active only honor students in Economics were eligible for membership. Now, however, since students of any faculty or year are eligible, it was decided to elect the executive from the members of the honor course. The election of officers was then proceeded with, and the following were chosen to fill the various positions:—

Hon. President—Dr. Leacock.

Hon. Vice-President — Dr. Hemmeon.

FIRST MEETING OF B.W. AND F.

Plans For Activities Of the Year Outlined — Inter-Collegiate Meet.

Yesterday afternoon the executive of the boxing, wrestling and Fencing club, held a meeting in the Union. The president Adams was unavoidably absent so nothing definite was decided upon.

However a plan for the coming session was made out, which will be brought up at the next meeting, to take place probably sometime in the coming weeek. All who were present, were of the opinion that practice ought to begin within the next week, in order that McGill might be able to enter the assault-at-arms, which will be held at Kingston, beginning Feb. 27th, 1920.

Many of the old members of the club are back and also much new material is to be found around the college, so that, if work is started during this month, McGill ought to have no trouble in picking a good team to meet Varsity and Queen's on the mat or in the ring.

Last year the R. W. and F. did not start until quite late, but even this tardiness did not keep it back.

No intercollegiate or interclub meets were held but a smoker took place at the Union, and the popularity of sports, fostered in the college by this club, is shown by the fact that over 300 spectators watched the Boxing and Wrestling bouts, although this smoker was not a financial success, many of the students expressed their appreciation of the event and their hopes of another in the same year. Though this was not possible, the executive for this session hope to overcome the difficulty by beginning practice at an earlier date, and so make the B. W. and F. a financial and sporting success.

WHY WE ARE HERE

One of the greatest questions a young man or young woman is called upon to decide is what shall constitute their life's work. This is a question which presents to youth in general difficulties which vary only in degree. Some, it is true, are born with what almost amounts to a definite purpose in life. At least from early childhood they are fired with a definite ambition to do or be. To these the difficulty consists merely in overcoming the obstacles which lie in the path before them. They are favored ones; for, having the definiteness of purpose so essential to success, they are already well on the way to the accomplishment of their desire. To those, however, and unfortunately they are, as a rule, in the majority, who are not born with any definite purpose or imbued with any burning fire of ambition, the question of a life's work presents many difficulties.

All of us are more or less talented, but many, either are not aware of their capabilities or being aware, are slow to apply them to the work which they are best fitted to do. The standard secret of success which is invariably advanced is the ability to decide what you want to do, what you want to do being of course also what you are best capable of doing, and then pursuing the object of your ambition with indefatigible zeal.

The wisdom of this advice is indisputable, but the unfortunate feature about it does not comprehend the situation of the individual who lacks the burning desire to follow any particular walk in life and who, though not lacking in ability, finds himself at sea as to his future. In our opinion this is the type of youth who is confronted with the greatest difficulties which life holds.

The real value of a university education is that it helps a man find himself, arouses him to a fuller realization of his capabilities or shortcomings and therefore makes it easier for him to judge what work in life he is particularly adapted to.

It is well for us to enquire of ourselves just what we are at McGill University for. Are we here merely as a matter of course in the fulfillment of the wishes and long cherished ambition of our parents; and are we lacking in the definiteness of purpose and the ambition without which we cannot hope to succeed. If such is the case, we owe it, not only to those who have sacrificed in order that we may enjoy the privileges of a college education, but to ourselves that we make the most of our opportunities and strive to the best of our ability to definitely lay the foundation upon which to superimpose our life's work. The future may appear far from reassuring but, if we are prepared to make the best of our opportunities as they present themselves, and pursue the everyday routine with the constant object before us of seeking out the vocation to which we are best adapted, and to the utmost of our ability are fitting ourselves in order that we may assume our life's duties and obligations and do justice to ourselves and those interested in us, we need not worry unduly about the future which under these circumstances will take care of itself.

COEDS ANNOUNCE ATHLETIC PLANS

Sports Program For Saturday, October 18th.

A business meeting of the R.V.C.A.A. was held in the Common Room, at 1 p.m. Friday to arrange the sports program for Saturday, October 18th.

The following program was decided upon, jumping race, 100 yards dash upon.—Jumping, high, broad and window, flat race, 100 yard dash; and the walking race, throwing competition, with basket ball, for distance and aim, relay race with colours, tug-of-war, old girls race, obstacle race, faculty race.

A leader was chosen to take charge of the entries for each event. The following were chosen: — Leader for jumping, Miss Moody; leader for flat race, Miss Spier; leader for throwing, Miss Fry; leader for relay race, Miss McDougall; leader for obstacle race, Miss J. Nichol; leader for old girls' race, and faculty races, Miss Cameron and Miss McNaughton.

All girls who intend to take part in any race must sign up as soon as possible, on the athletic notice-board.

After the sports there will be a tea and dancing in the R.V.C.. An entrance charge of seventy-five cents will include sports, tea and dancing.

The social and music committee are in charge of Miss McDonald, with her assistants, Miss Robson, Miss Cox, Miss Beckwith.

THE WORK OF THE "Q" BOATS

Of the numerous sideshows of the British Navy during the war of the past four and a half years, the most amazing is the part played by the "Q" boat or mystery ship. The story of the work done by these special vessels truly forms a romantic chapter in Great Britain's naval history. Between them and their opponents, the U-Boats it was a veritable war of "stunt" and camouflage. They were typical tramp steamers from Bristol Channel ports and specially fitted out for their mission in a naval dockyard, in 1915, when the U-Boat menace was becoming serious. It was not until October of that year that they were ready for their roving commission, to decoy and sink enemy submarines. Although they scoured the seas for many months of wearying strain, without ever sighting their prey, they were ultimately rewarded with conspicuous success. Their task was made none the easier by the knowledge which the Germans had of the types of English merchant ships hailing from the different ports, for many of the men of the enemy craft had been trading with the English ports before the war and were well acquainted with the sort of craft likely to be on a particular stretch of the sea. So, a "Q" boat commander had to be careful to avoid steering a course which would not agree with the appearance of his ship. Once the enemy's suspicions were aroused, the submarine remanined submerged and fired her torpedo at the ship.

As the work of the mystery ship developed, every type of merchant vessel upon the seas was pressed into the service; and, concurrently with its development, the trustfulness of the Germans was changed for distrust and extreme wariness. There was no outward sign in any of the vessels to arouse this distrust, which was the result solely of unpleasant experience. It was the effect of this experience which contributed in no small degree to the success of the "Q" boat service. It was twofold, material and moral. They not only destroyed many U-boats but by the caution they instilled in the Germans they enabled many merchant vessels to escape which otherwise would have been lost, and they caused the enemy to waste numerous costly torpedoes and forced many of their boats back to port and so shortened their period of activity. In fact, the influence of the "Q" boat upon the war must not be measured solely by the actual number of enemy craft sunk, considerable though it was; as the author says, "It was a case of the moral outweighing the material effect of the new warfare."

The most astonishing feature of this campaign was the heroism and unflagging perseverance of the crews who were all volunteers, eager to meet a submarine and try issues with her. It was veritably a service which demanded a self-restraint and courage which could only be found amidst the surroundings of the sternest discipline. It was only perfect discipline, combined with sporting instinct, which could enable men to put up with dire discomfort, to lie sometimes for hours under shell fire, often wounded and uttering no complaint; waiting for the supreme moment when they could give the enemy his knockout blow. Under the cloak of apparent gross indiscipline, these crews, dressed as merchant service men readily submitted to the most iron discipline, and it seems little short of marvelous how readily they adapted themselves to their unwonted conditions. Throughout hours of almost unendurable tension and excitement, they "preserved their self-control, and, more wonderful still, their sense of humor." Their spirit will be understood by what one of them men said to a visitor to the Suffolk Coast: "We don't mind explaining the ship to people, sir, but they expect us to talk about ourselves.

ENTRY DATE FOR TENNIS EXTENDED

Nine Entered For Doubles —Entry List Closes To-Night.

The entry list of the Doubles Tournament has now reached the grand total of nine, now while this is a creditable showing, still it is not anything like the number that was expected by the executive, and for this reason the entry list will be bept open until this evening. Therefore it is urgently requested that those who have not as yet entered their names will make use of this additional time.

Amongst the diferent doubles, who have entered are Ward and Greene, Kramer and Kearney, Powell and O'Halloran, Hamilton and Sherrard, Bussiere and Bernard, Betournay and Parker, Fensom and Fensom, Carlyle and Parker and Drummond and Cockshutt.

In order to enable men to enter Doubles Tournament, it has been decided to take entries of men, who have no definite partner in view, and to pair them with other men, so as to give everybody a chance to play.

In the singles Tournament only one match was played, Kearney vs. Powell. In this match Powell came out as victor, winning in straight setts 6-2, 6-4, the match was not up to the expected standard, which was no doubt due to the heavy condition of the courts, which seemed to put both men off their game. Powell however had the edge on Kearney throughout, and that reason finally emerged with the match to his credit.

There only remains two new matches to be played in the singles, Powell vs. Ward, the winner to play Greene in the finals, and the executive have great hopes of finishing the tournament by Monday evening.

All members are requested to be on hand at the club house to-morrow at noon, as important matters have to be arranged.

ROOTERS' CLUB.

Rooters will meet outside Union at 2.20 p.m. Monday, and march to the game at the Stadium. The G. W. V. A. Band will be inattendance.

NEW EXPERT VENTURE.

The shoe industry of Great Britain has organized a National Export Selling Agency as a limited liability company to develop the foreign trade of its members. A London despatch says that an effort probably will be made to enlist all shoe manufacturers in Great Britain in order to secure standardization of samples for each of the overseas markets in which the agency will operate. The American Chamber of Commerce in London has expressed the opinion that this combination undoubtedly will result in "huge production on standard lines." The Selling Agency, by acting for the entire trade, will be in a position to accept bulk orders which will be split up among the members for concentrated production of the standard models.

GERMAN GRAIN CRISIS.

A cable to the New York Tribune points out the harmful effect of fixed prices in Germany. It states that following the removal of the maximum price for oats, the price increased to 1200 marks per ton, while the prices drove the farmers to hasten threshing of oats and encouraged the feeding of wheat and rye to live-stock. As a result the bread supply was threatened.

MED. EXAMINATION.

The following alteration in the Medical Examination schedule has been announced and should be noticed by all parties concerned. All those who were to have been examined on Thanksgiving Day, Monday, October 15th, will be examined on Tuesday, October 21st. Those, who were to have appeared next Friday, will be examined on Wednesday, October 22nd. Freshmen must remember that Medical examination is obligatory.

NOTICES

THANKSGIVING DINNER.

Out of town students will be pleased to know that the Ladies' Auxiliary of McGill Y.M.C.A. have returned to their time honored custom of providing a free Thanksgiving Dinner at Strathcona Hall. This pleasing function was omitted last year on account of the "flu" epidemic, so this year it will be a new feature to at least classes in the college.

The dinner is to be served at the Hall on Monday evening at 6.30 o'clock. All students who wish to take advantage of this should leave their names at the Hall not later than Monday noon. Sheets are posted in the hall to receive signatures.

ternoon at 2.30 outside the Union, where it will join forces and march full strength to the Stadium, entering at the University Street entrance.

All over the States, universities report Rooters' Clubs and College Bands out to cheer their teams. It is sure that McGill will be second to none in this respect. Football has never been so popular in the university, and after four years in hiding, it has revealed itself stronger than ever.

Added to the Thanksgiving program, the Great War Veteran's Band will be in attendance.

The slightest amount of exertion on your part means the success of the Rooters' Club, victory for the squad and glory for Old McGill.—Turn out on Monday with the Rooters.

STUDENTS SUNDAY AT EMMANUEL CHURCH.

Emmanuel Church has been made famous by the pastorates of some of the greatest preachers our country has ever listened to, men like the late Dr. John Frederick Stevenson and J. B. Silcox and Hugh Pedley, than whom no other church in Canada ever boasted of more eloquent and accomplished leaders.

"At present, this church is happy in having for its minister the Rev. George Adam, a man who comes over from England bringing with him the friendship of the highest in the homeland, a man who has rendered distinguished services to the Empire during the days of War, a man whose career the leaders of every Canadian church are observing with interest."

The church has always been noted for its activities throughout the city, and is desirous of rendering all the assistance in its power to returned men who are seeking to advance themselves on their return to civil life.

MEXICAN TARIFF CHANGES

Changes in the Mexican tariff, authorized by the decree of August 30, involve a considerable increase in protection. Duties have been increased in a number of cases to protect developing industries and rates have been lowered in the case of certain products not manufactured in Mexico. As an example of the increase, the import duty on automobile tires has been advanced from a former rate of 75 peso per kilo to 1 peso in view of the fact that there are now two factories in Mexico producing automobile tires with a stated capacity of 100 per day.

McGILL WILL HAVE SENIOR WATER POLO

Many Of Last Year's Players Back.

SEVERAL NEW MEN.

Intermediate Team Will Also Be Entered in League.

At a meeting held yesterday in the Union at 1 p.m., the Swimming Club decided to enter a senior team in the water polo league. By this decision the swimming club have taken over a big responsibility. It is useless to send in a team who are not in the best of condition, and who are not trained to a state of perfection. Everything depends on Fisk, Winters, Parsons, Walters, Wiggs, Foss, Elder, Lally and Bastable, for it is on these men that we pin our faith, and they will not disappoint. If there is any man in the college who plays water polo, and who has not yet turned out, it is hoped that he will do so next Tuesday, at the Y.M.C.A. at 5.00 p.m.

There will be no practice to-day at 4.00 p.m. on account of the Freshman-Sophomore sports, but any man who desires a quiet hours practice can turn out and use the tank. The ball can be had at the attendants office in the locker room.

The men of the intermetiate team must also get busy again and get out at every practice. Dr. Lamb will be out, and is going to do his best to get a little team work done.

Don't forget the time and place, Tuesday, 5 p.m. at Y.M.C.A. Swimming Pool.

UNION HOUSE COM.

Nominations for the Union House Committee close on Tuesday at 6.00 p.m. Two members must be elected from Arts, Science and Medicine and one from Law.

SCIENCE JUNIORS ELECT OFFICERS

J. B. Macphail Elected President—Interfaculty Football Discussed.

Yesterday the class of Science '21 held a meeting in Room 33 of the Engineering Building. The chief reason for calling the meeting was to elect the class officers for the coming session. J. M. Cuddy, the retiring president, called the meeting to order, and after a few words on the proceedings of the class during his term of office, declared nominations for the presidency open. J. B. Macphail was elected to this office.

The following men were elected to the remaining offices:—

J. M. Cuddy, Vice-President.
J. K. Wilson, Secretary.
G. Rochester, Treasurer.

The only other business brought before the meeting was the question of picking a team for inter-faculty football. The secretary of the Science Undergrad, Macfarlane, asked all who knew anything about football to turn out at the meeting, which would be held later on in the day, and at which a course would be decided upon.

President—E. Common.
Vice-President—L. W. Kern.
Secretary—H. Borden.
Treasurer—E. Martin.

The President took the chair and thanked the meeting for bestowing such a high honor upon him.

After some discussion on the new constitution it was decided to leave it to the executive, who will present all amendments at the next meeting to be held sometime in the near future.

The question of fees was then brought forward, but it was resolved to wait until the first regular meeting before deciding such an important subject.

if anything in favour of M.A.A.A. However our team for the first time this season will have the support of an organized rooters' club. This is a factor that may figure largely in the coming game as it did in the days before the war.

AT THE NEW GRAND.

The biggest event of the entire season in the world of motion pictures will be the presentation of D. W. Griffith's supreme triumph, "Hearts of the World," which will be shown at the New Grand theatre for one week, starting to-morrow, Sunday, for the first time, at popular prices. "Hearts of the World" was eighteen months in the making, and it might well be called a cinema grand opera, so well does the musical accompaniment fit the picture. There is a theme running through the symphony indicating every important character and every feature is timed with the music. The picture might easily be understood without titles, as some of the music, to which every one knows the words, describe the scenes exactly.

Mr. Griffith is anxious to remove any apprehension that "Hearts of the World" is primarily a war picture. It is, he announces, primarily a love story, and the film to be shown at the New Grand theatre is a new peace version, and it may be called "The Story of a Village." There is the pretty romance of two girls, each in love with the same man, there is the quiet and peaceful atmosphere of a small French town before the holocaust of the war, however, the conflict serving as the grim background.

Prominent in the cast of "The Hearts of the World," are the Gish Sisters, Lillian and Dorothy, Robert Barron, George Fawcett, George Seigman, and other well known players, which includes Little Ben Alexander, the six-year-old actor, who is one of the most compelling figures in "Hearts of the World," and his acting calls forth rounds of applause. On the same programme will be offered other features, along with a musical programme, which will be played by the New Grand concert orchestra, directed by David S. Levine.

AT THE HOLMAN.

"Eagle" Ryan, notorious outlaw leader and atheist, plots to get a $60,000 "buton"—lump of gold—that is to be shipped soon by the Oatman Gold Mine. He hears a new express agent, a minister, is on his way to the town. Posing as Wiatt, the present agent, he meets the train at a water tank, persuades the minister, who is ill, and the latter's daughter, Bess, to come to his ranch.

Ryan drugs the minister and goes to Oatman in the latter's garb, to act as express agent. He is insulted by Ben Grant, a bully who controls the town. He whips Grant and becomes a popular idol . Then he goes to a cabin set aside for him, and returns to his old self again. His old disbelief in God returns and he openly defies Him to master him.

On Sunday he keeps his promise to preach a sermon in the town saloon. He is inspired by a strange religious fervor and his eloquence sways the crowd.

Members of Ryan's gang, impatient at the delay in getting the "button," plan to get it themselves. They learn it is in the express office, having missed shipment on the night train. Bess overhears the plot and warns Ryan, whom she has grown very fond of. He rushes to the express office and defies the gang. There is a gun fight, and ——

But wait. See "When a Girl Loves," with Mildred Harris and William Stowell.

LOEWS.

A miniature musical satire with a host of pleasing songs, dances and clean cut comedy will be the feature of next week's bill at Loew's. "Oh Mike" is the name of the offering and will be presented by a company of nine people.

A really comic number will be furnished by Will J. Evans, the happy hobo who is a successor to the late Nat M. Wills, of the New York Hippodrome. Walmsley and Keating will be seen in a pleasing conception of laughter and songs. Emmett and Moore, two Irish artists, will present their musical sketch, "A Bit O' Blarney," while Harrison and Halloway will have a musical number.

For the first time since Loew's opened Mabel Normand will be featured on the picture end of the bill in "Upstairs." This film is described as a "rag time romance" with a jazz setting and is said to be the first of its kind ever screened. A comedy and Loew's British Canadian News will also be on the bill.

MEETING MED. '21.

A meeting of Med. '21 was held yesterday, at which the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President, D. R. Learoyd; Vice-President, R. Kinsman; Secretary, Chandler; Treasurer, Gaboury; Daily representative, Riddell; Advisory Board, Parkins, Cooder, H. Smith; Track Representative, Dowdall.

MEETING MED. '25.

At a meeting of Medicine '25, which was held yesterday the following were elected to hold office for the coming year: President, L. P. Little; Secretary, J. R. Forrest; Treasurer, J. L. Coupal.

Scene in "Justice" the offering at The Orpheum Theatre Next Week.

THE PRINCESS.

The vaudeville bill at the Princess Theatre next week will be featured by reason of the return of the celebrated French artiste, Mlle. Nitta-Jo, in her famous songs and impersonations. Mlle. Nitta-Jo is an actress and a singer of unique gifts, who combines in her work the fire and fascination of the French stage and the charm that comes of a radiant personality. She will give an act which visualises, so advance notices state, an obscure cabaret in Montmartre, Paris. It is specially staged and it has created a big impression wherever she has played it so far this season.

There are several other most attractive features on the bill. Prominent among them will be a new sartorial skit, entitled "Clothes, Clothes, Clothes," in which the De Wolf girls, Georgette and Capitola, will be seen in a remarkable assortment of dainty dresses and lingerie, and will also show their skill as dancers, singers and comediennes.

A special sketch entitled "Who's The Boss?" written by George Kelly for Miss Mary Maxfield and her company will bring that popular Broadway star here for the first time in vaudeville. She is said to have an exceptionally good vehicle for the display of her undoubted talents.

"Georgia on Broadway" is the name of the new act in which Maude Powers and Vernon Wallace will be featured. It deals with the South, and is a bright and attractive feature.

Dave Roth, the versatile entertainer, has another new act, in which his singing, dancing, story-telling, piano and single stringed violin playing will all be exhibited.

In "Clowning, that's all," Warren and La Favor will reveal their great ability as genuine buffoons, who dispense clean and wholesome comedy in a popular manner.

The Old-Time darkies will sing Southern songs and tell Southern jokes, and James C. Morton & Co. will appear in a fast comedy and variety act.

PRINCESS THEATRE

Mlle. Nitta-Jo, one of France's most popular character singers, will be the headline attraction at the Princess Theatre next week. Since being in America she has created a positive furore, and has been acclaimed the greatest artist to be imported in years. She impersonates "La Gigolette Parisienne," which is a feminine Apache. Her characterization is graphic and exceedingly interesting.

Mlle. Nitta-Jo is the possessor of an unusual beautiful and melodious voice and this she uses to the best advantage. It is very difficult to describe an artist. Art is something that invariably makes it's presence felt, but battles description and Mlle. Nitta-Jo is an artist to her finger tips. She has played throughout the world. She came to America from Russia by the way of Japan.

In 1914 she was in Roumania. When it became impossible for a French subject to remain in Roumania, Nitta-Jo went to Russia playing there until the chaotic conditions made any form of amusement impossible. Then she remained to do whatever she could to relieve the suffering. The reign of terror of the Bolsheviks forced her to escape for her own safety. After witnessing innumerable uprisings and massacres, she made her escape through Siberia to Japan, where she sailed for America.

Nitta-Jo was born in Paris, and made her stage debut when only nine years of age. She is an actress as well as a singer, and combining the two qualities, has made her one of the most unusual personalities of the halls.

ORPHEUM THEATRE

The announcement that the Orpheum Players will produce "Justice," John Galsworthy's great play, at the Orpheum next week is one which will be read with interest by all drama-lovers. It is seldom that a tragedy of such a type is played in Stock, and the undertaking to do it here is of all the more interest because the play has never been seen in Canada under such circumstances.

"Justice" is Galsworthy's protest against the present judicial system in England, under which the ticket-of-leave and other systems are operated in a way that gives the criminal who has expiated his crime and has been set free little or no opportunity to become an honest man again.

The plot, which is one of grim tragedy, deals with a man called Falder, who forges a cheque to obtain money with which to take the woman he loves away from a husband who is treating her brutally. His crime is discovered and he is sent to gaol for three years' penal servitude. Freed on ticket-of-leave, he finds the woman waiting for him, and his old firm willing to give him another chance, but because he has failed to comply with the ticket-of-leave regulations, he is again seized by the law.

In desperation, the poor man commits suicide before he can be taken back to prison, and the curtain falls on the woman falling across his dead body.

It is a play of intent purpose and stark tragedy, and will doubtless create a big impression at the Orpheum.

UNCLE SALT BASIN—L'ENVOI.

Yes, I know that I've gone from McGill's halls of learning, my voice there is silent, my face no more seen, but I can't help admitting my thoughts are still turning way back to thy days that I spent on her green; those glorious days full of life and ambition when Seniors were ancients and Sophs old enough, when we thought that McGill owed to us her position, and shouted "Rah! Rah!" and believed we were "tough"! And the time later on, when as Juniors haughty we worked on committees and tried to look wise, and if any poor fish went to lectures, great Scott, he was looked on as crazy by all of the guys.

And the Daily—our paper,—ah, reader, no voice here can utter the feelings that rise in my heart! But I'll say this;—if any assortment was noisier and happier too than our staff, well then, Arts, I'll devour my hat and e'en smoke H.A.'s pipe and you know what that means. Can I say more? I can't! What a pleasure it was all our foemen to snipe and to most split our sides o'er the freshies' wild rant! And to go down by night to the dear dusty office, to bang the typewriter and yell "Holy Smoke! here's a letter from Dash (who's a prominent prof)! Is the R.V.C. stuff in? Hey, think up a joke!"

Well, it's all over now and the old bunch is scattered—the faces one sees in the class-rooms are new—but if anyone asks me to-day if it mattered, if friendships and friends that I made then are true, why, I smile with an air that is scornful and saddened, I think of the boys that I know and love still, and I rise up and roar like a bull that is maddened." We'll never forget them, our days at McGill!"

SUTTY-EYED PERCIVAL SAYS

Everything comes to him who waits. We knew a chap (stude) who waited fifty minutes for a beef stew in the Ham—And, and it finally came through the swing-doors and bit him on the chin.

YE SONG OF YE SOFFE.

Let's goe out, boys, let's goe out,
Before we g. to beddie
Let's goe out with merrie shout
And paint ye whole place rydde
And if a coppe yells to us, "stoppe!"
We'll stand him onne his bedde!

Let's goe out, boys, let's goe out

Correspondence

The Daily is not responsible for the sentiments of letters published in the correspondence columns. Signed communications from graduates, undergraduates and members of the faculties will be placed in print if they are not of too great length.

Correspondents are requested to observe the unwritten law of the newspaper office — that they write upon ONE side of the paper ONLY.

No communication will be admitted in this column without the name of the writer being attached, not necessarily for PUBLICATION.

To the editor of McGill Daily.

Dear Sir,

You will I hope, pardon my harping on an old and ill-used string; but one more opinion on the topic of the "Rush" should not be greatly amiss.

First of all, to compare even the roughest of McGill "Rushes" to an ordinary American "rush" is an insult; for the latter is brutal and cruel in the extreme, breeding great ill-feeling, and usually resulting in wholesale destruction of property.

Neither can last year's Medical "Rush" be taken as an example of a "Rush". It degenerated into a "free fight" spreading to some of the class-rooms. Had it not been for the action of the University, causing the sophomores of the other Faculties to be reluctant to join in, there would have been no violence or breakages.

The "Rush" which took place on the first night of the session is a typical one. No damage was done to property the affair was over in an hour and a half, the public was not inconvenienced, and both freshmen and Sophs. thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

Practically all the Universities of North America have "Rushes" or a modified form. Harvard is a possible exception; but there it is replaced by cruel private "hazing". Some discontinued during the war and have resumed the practice again; but, far from dying out, the "Rush" is as strong as ever.

In boarding schools, fraternities, and all types of freemasonry societies initiations would not be adopted and continued were there not some real benefit arising from their practice.

The result of a "Rush" is to bring about a friendly understanding, inexplicable though it may seem, between first and second year without a "Rush" this "entente" is always utterly lacking. In Arts and Science last year from the first day to the last day the year was crammed with quarrels and bickerings between first and second years, and illfeeling was always rife. In Medicine, on the other hand, their was no such state of affairs; even though their "Rush" had been a bitter hand to hand fight, and that fines had been scattered broadcast.

The absolute forbidding of a "Rush" is far too drastic, and public opinion is undoubtedly deadly against it. If the authorities MUST do away with a "Rush", the only way is to tone it down gradually. Even then a good substitute will have to be found. Something will have to done; for the present dead-lock cannot last.

Yours sincerely,
NOS NOYA.
